IRVIN TO BE THE REGISTER

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—President Wilson today sent the following nomination to the senate: John F. Irvin, of Phoenix, Arizona, receiver of the land office at Phoenix; Arthur J. Ewing, of San Francisco, receiver of the land office at Coconino; and John F. Irvin, of Phoenix, Arizona, receiver of the land office at Phoenix.

The hearts of a score of good democrats were set at rest yesterday morning on the receipt of intelligence from Washington relating to the final settlement of the controversy over the office rendered vacant by the death of Register Thomas F. Wooten last summer.

The contest of the candidates for this office was almost unanimously decided, both for the number of hands and the wholehearted vigor with which they worked.

John F. Irvin, a long-time resident of this valley, and said to be one of the most competent and honest in the list of candidates, was the protégé of Henry F. Ashurst, the junior senator. The appointment was said to belong to the senior senator, Mr. Smith, but apparently there was a settlement of differences, with the result that Irvin received the endorsement of the senate.

John F. Irvin, receiver of the office, has been assistant on the job since the death of his predecessor. In spite of his best looks, the work has piled up for there are some things that must receive the attention of a duly qualified holder of the title of register. For this reason, Mr. Irvin holds the appointment with considerable satisfaction.

Irvin is said to be endorsed by the majority of the land attorneys practicing for the office.

PRUDENCE THE PIRATE

Here is one that has that touch which makes the whole world kin. This innocent girl reads pirate stories and talks at being married to a man who does not like and character a yacht, hires a crew, and puts to sea. They have the worst time you ever saw but she makes a man out of the mollycoddle who wants to marry her. GLADYS HULLETTE who recently played the SHINE GIRL, is the star and it is one of the sweetest and most likable things in the current month of picture plays.

CIVILIZATION NOT POSSIBLE WITHOUT GENUINE THRIFT

In just such measures as we lack thrift do we revert toward the uncivilized state.

Who could imagine the condition of national, commercial and industrial life if thrift were unknown, untaught and unpracticed? The schools, printing presses, factories, mines, laboratories—all institutions for conserving knowledge and substance—are exponents of thrift. They gather on the wisdom in arts, the skill and industry of the ages, enrich it, add to it, conserve it, and hand it on to the coming years.

A respect for thrift adorns alike the character of kind or mean, and enhances its value as an individual. A principle so clearly vital to the well-being of all, it follows that individual thrift is equally necessary to the best work of each.

Thrift Day should be on the calendar of all people—it is a duty to all. The establishment of universal thrift would be the one greatest good to all.

There is often an association in men's minds between penuriousness and thrift; between waste and liberality.

This is a misapprehension, and the difficulty is to convince the masses that thrift is a thoughtful and honestly considered.

Genuine thrift is the truest benevolence operating through many channels and extending to the greatest number. It includes liberality, but is never wasteful. The hoarding of resources makes possible industries that in turn liberally supply the needs and utilize the talents of many. Miserly liberality, which allows or condones waste under the guise of generosity, is of no true benefit. In the final result the scales tip in an accounting and "waste" makes waste.

A thrifty community is one where plenty abounds permanently. Individuals share a pro rata benefit from being in the community in addition to the direct personal return of individual effort.

Thrift Day offers the opportunity for concerted, unified effort, which cannot fail to bring permanent, lasting results to each and all.

ALIBIS

Never ride this horse again.

Talk about your old plays, this bunch of skin and bones is afraid to move for fear of jarring its teeth out.

Why, you've got a good horse, what are you talking about?

Waldy means I've got a good horse. Why this abbreviated hitch-hike just would finish a poor second in a 100-yard dash with a snail.

Well I'll just trade you.

No, you won't. I don't like your snail and besides I'm getting kinda used to this old nag.

For some reason or other, I can't ride today. My steed is too long. Besides me, the first time I go riding "he'll" will have to give me a rag that can make more than 2 per cent on high.

This charging steed of mine was eventually a good horse in the battle of Gettysburg.

I say Andy, let me take your snail. Your horse goes alright without it and besides with its use I might urge this

The Most Remarkable Play of the Hour

CRITICS SING THE PRAISES OF "THE NATURAL LAW"

A great play, should be seen by old and young.

New York Herald.

The audience was intensely interested and paid tribute to a real play.

New York Evening Mail.

The Natural Law is a bold play—a big play.

Boston American.

It is good to be able to say nothing but good about a play and The Natural Law deserves it—every bit of it.

New York Evening Journal.

Strong situations abound throughout the action of the play.

New York Sun.

The Natural Law is at all times interesting.

Boston Post.

As fine a bit of emotional acting as New York has seen in some time. A lesson for young girls.

New York Commercial.

THE ESSENTIALNESS OF THRIFT IS SHOWN

February Third the Opportunity for Its Application

The real idea behind the selection of one particular day of the year, and electing it to be Thrift Day, is to focus the thought of our over one hundred million people upon the application of thrift, its practical ways and means for conserving the many wastes in living.

The idea of thrift is one which all will agree is wholly, and more particularly because of the present high cost of living. This is not so creditable, being offered under compulsion of necessity, as would be the result of a self-analysis, self-arrangement and self-sentiment to a stricter observance of the law of self-betterment. Nevertheless, since the price of food has gone so high, the practicing of thrift has become very popular with many.

The one point where most consideration is needed in starting a thrift habit is in concentrating on those things which are admittedly open for improvement, but remain as a sort of promise to ourselves and are put off in their performance from time to time.

There is often an association in men's minds between penuriousness and thrift; between waste and liberality.

This is a misapprehension, and the difficulty is to convince the masses that thrift is a thoughtful and honestly considered.

JUNIOR GUILD TO PUT ON GOOD SHOW

No point of expense have been spared to assure the success of the vaudeville performance which will be booked at the Isis theater next Friday night for the one night only by the Junior Guild of the Trinity Cathedral.

The program from first to last number has been arranged with the purpose of securing the most artistic and entertaining effect. While it was expected that the personnel of the performance would be announced to-day, it is withheld out of deference to several of the more modest of the stars who will take part.

Those who have attended rehearsals are of the opinion that the vaudeville show will be one of the big hits of the season.

At the Elks

Despite the unfavorable weather of last evening, a fair sized crowd attended the first performance of the Charles Sumner play at the Elks theater last evening and gave every evidence of their approval and pleasure.

The program was interrupted by some scenes in every act, and few shows seemingly have given greater satisfaction than this one to Elks audiences.

The story of the play is one which may well be said to have an especial mission, and in dealing with present day evils did not attempt to mislead. In fact, a "spade" was called a "spade," and those who wish to follow the purpose of the author as he is intended, and not by inference, have no cause for complaint with "The Natural Law."

There are great characters in the play, but all of them will earn their salaries this week. For them there is no play in this offering. It calls for the very best in each of them, and the company entered heartily into their various tasks.

To those who might have been led to believe that "The Natural Law" is a simple thing, a disappointment for there is nothing to offend the most sensitive person, but there is ample to set the average person thinking seriously.

The play is daring in that it deals in truth as if present day society wanted truth—not prettified. It is entertaining, in reality, stirring from beginning to end, and should draw as much as capacity audiences to the Elks while it is there.

The matinee today is exclusively for ladies. Men will not be admitted this afternoon and children under 16 years of age will not be admitted to any of the performances of "The Natural Law" unless accompanied by parent or guardian, or having a written order to the Elks management requesting same.

In addition to the matinee this afternoon there will be performances of this play tonight and Thursday night. On Friday night the Arizona Press Club holds the boards at the Elks.

Merry-makers Big Hit at the Arizona

The return of the Merry-Makers to the Arizona has shown from the start of the first performance that Phoenix has not forgotten the days of a few weeks ago, when the favorites left these parts for those unknown.

The laughs which greeted the show on the opening night, are keeping up as the performances progress, and if it is possible, they are increasing in popularity. In their new guise well known stars of the Metro Stock company.

Last night Lorraine Crawford, singing the big hit "My Mother's Rosary," responded to encore after encore. She was also well received in other musical numbers. Another feature was the reappearance of the ever popular and versatile Pfeil sisters, who presented a new and up-to-date dancing act.

The Merry-Makers will continue in Phoenix for an indefinite engagement with a complete change of program twice a week, changing program on Monday and Thursday.

Mary Pickford at Lamara Today Only

It is safe to say that in "Caprice" the Famous Player Film company has offered a picture in which Mary Pickford known as America's Sweetheart is seen at her best. The story is of a type which is bound to please all, as it was shown yesterday to capacity houses all day and it is expected that today will be even bigger.

Under New Management

The best that the picture maker has been able to do is to show it in a way that is as a picture. The management thinks it stands in a class all by itself. The twelfth episode of the "Shedding Shadow" is as with it. The story of the man who was pulled into the sea by an octopus is rapidly nearing completion and much interest is centered in the episode of the "Shedding Shadow."

Tomorrow at the Hip will be shown the picture selected by the American Filmex Association as their official picture. It is called "The Bull and the Lion" and deals with a dramatic story of a paper doll that came out of the government mint clean and untricked, but went through a strenuous career before it landed for good. It is said to be a real hit value in picture.

Glady's Huilette at Hip

Every now and then some lady patron comes out of the Hip theater and says to the management, "I heard you had a delightful picture on last night and I'd like to see it, but I did not know it until after it was gone."

Here is one that a lot of people the manager of that house thinks will be talking about long after it is gone and the chance has passed to see one of the finest screen values ever brought to Phoenix. "Prudence the Pirate" is the title and it is just bubbling with picture.
